Chancellor's Address

How proud I am of you! Commencement is always a source of pride for a university, but the 22nd Commencement of the University of Massachusetts at Boston, in which you, the Class of 1990 will graduate, marks a particularly important milestone for the Boston Campus. This year we have celebrated the 25th anniversary of the founding of our campus. As baccalaureates of the University, you now are both heirs and legators of our young university's quarter-century of tradition. It is a tradition of teaching and learning, research and scholarship, public service and community activity. It is a tradition your presence has enriched, expanded, and enhanced.

Academic Year 1989-1990 has been a year typical of many of UMass/Boston's traditions. Our students have achieved extraordinary accomplishments that include the publication of a novel, selection as a Younger Scholar by the National Endowment for Humanities, and presentation of research results in chemistry at a scholarly conference. Our Ballroom Dance Club won competition after competition, among them the Commonwealth Classic and Best College Team and Best College Couple at the Newport Classic. A member of our football team, a graduating senior, became the first UMass/Boston student to sign a contract with a professional football team.

Our faculty has, once again, earned national and international recognition for scholarly and professional achievement. Among such recognition are Fulbright Awards, National Endowment for the Arts Fellowships, and selection as guest curator of the international art exhibition "Monet in the '90s." In December, a member of our faculty wrote the lead article for Atlantic Monthly, a piece of writing that continues to provoke lively debate in the academic community. Throughout this year faculty and staff have worked with the Boston Public Schools to introduce students to reading and the love of literature. Throughout this year scientists working in conjunction with the Urban Harbors Institute have helped to make our environment cleaner, safer, and more productive.

But Academic Year 1989-1990 has also tested the strength of our Campus. The University of Massachusetts at Boston has faced another year of reduced funding. Lack of adequate financial support has prompted all members of the University community to reflect with great care on the future of the Campus, its programs, and its goals. The thoughtful participation of students in this process has not only helped facilitate the deliberations of faculty and administration, but has been a great source of encouragement to us in that it serves as a welcome reminder of our primary academic mission.

Do not leave this Campus questioning its ability to survive this difficult fiscal crisis. I am confident that UMass/Boston will remain an important resource for the citizens of Boston and the Commonwealth. My confidence grows, in no small degree, from knowing the students that the University serves. Graduates of this University, you will give back to the Commonwealth many times over the investment it made in you when you began your studies here. And hence, the reasons for my pride — pride that is born of knowing that the University of Massachusetts at Boston has served Boston, the Commonwealth, and the nation by educating and graduating productive, concerned, and responsible citizens; pride that is born of knowing the individual commitment each senior made to achieve his or her degree. Congratulations and best wishes. May your future be one of success and happiness.

Sherry H. Penney
Chancellor

"It Was the Winter

The vision which grew into the University of Massachusetts at Boston came out of a commitment to provide quality education to the disenfranchised; the promise to reach out and educate those traditionally excluded by the private sector. We are a bridge across which members from all communities can gain access to the many avenues higher education offers. The entitlement of public education has become a reality through the quality and commitment of those educators who choose to share their knowledge with the UMB population.

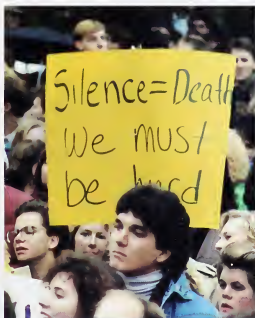

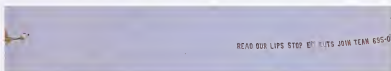

The cyclical nature of society is reflected within the microcosm which is UMB. Throughout our history we have weathered the roller coaster ride of budget crises and Reaganism as well as racist and sexist politics. The painful realities of relocation and the reorganization merger only served to strengthen an already tough population. Throughout our struggles we have emerged as a great urban university rejoicing in the harmony of our multicultural, multiethnic community.

The combined efforts of student activism and dedicated educators bring about the freedom to explore and grow intellectually and ethically. UMB has prepared us to be leaders of the future and instilled in us the knowledge that we can succeed. The Statement of Purpose in 1965 has been and will continue to be fulfilled. "Our mission is to develop in Boston a great public urban university, which will preserve and extend in the best tradition of the Western world the domain of knowledge and nurture intellectual freedom and integrity. . . . providing people quality of opportunity . . . an obligation to see that the opportunities we offer are indeed equal to the best that private schools have to offer. Otherwise, equality of opportunity means only that people of limited means have equal access to something less than the best, and we perpetuate a class system of education. The urban university must stand with the city, must serve and lead where the battle is. This is what the University of Massachusetts at Boston must do . . . Only by responding . . . on the old idea of the university as keeper, maker and teacher of knowledge and wisdom be saved in the 20th Century." (or the 21st) May the commitment to this vision never be forgotten or compromised. With arms linked through our differences we can create a united front ready to challenge attempts which chip away at an already crumbling foundation. The armor of our education supplies us with the strength to continue the heritage of the University of Massachusetts at Boston.

The Kinks rocked our shores in May!

Charlie Desmond and Sherry Thomas Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs and Department Head of Student Life, at Senior Event held in May.

The Department of Student Life is part of the University's Student Affairs. The department endeavors to create an environment conducive to the development of ideas and activities which enhance the personal growth of students and which make a positive contribution to the University and community affairs.

Due to the fact that ours is a commuter school, students at UMB have often complained that there is no campus life beyond the classroom. Student Life has made every effort to change that. From the Harbor Art Gallery, the Wits End Cafe, and the Film and Lecture Series to celebrations of Black History Month, Women's Month, the Senior Event/Unity Ball and the twice-yearly Infofests, the department of Student Life brings, the dynamic student body together.

This year, the department of Student Life and student government brought to campus a wide-range of speakers and performances. The Reverend Jessie Jackson spoke to a large crowd in the Clark Gym. The controversial Stokely Carmichael lectured a packed McCormack Gym. And the legendary Hall of Fame rockers, The Kinks — with an energetic Ray Davies center stage — closed out the school year with a memorable end of the semester concert on the baseball field behind Wheatley Hall.

We hope you remember Student Life as an important part of your stay here at UMass/Boston.

The April rally brought forth students Mark Reed-Edwards, Dan Currie, and Senate Speaker Anthony Tsougranis holding the UMB banner.

Student Senate

The Student Senate is the governing body for the undergraduate students at UMass/Boston. Representing the 12,500 students from our many colleges and academic programs, the Student Senate meets every other week throughout the academic year to attend to the timely affairs and organizational matters of concern to students. The 1989-1990 year was a very active year for student government.

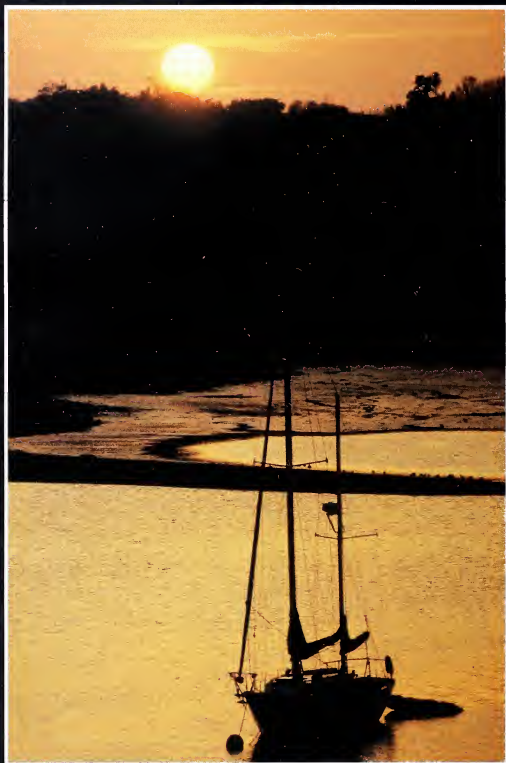

Highlights of the year included consistent student activism in response to the continued cuts to public support of higher education. In October and again in April thousands upon thousands of students rallied on the State House and Boston Common to demonstrate their support of higher education. The Student Senate, through its chartering of student organizations and activities funded primarily through the Student Activities Trust Fund, played a major leadership role in formulating the student agenda and students' response to the University administration's proposed reorganization plan for handling fiscal cutbacks at home here at UMB. The voice of the student government was strong, loud, and forceful; indeed, student leadership demonstrated responsible representation on behalf of our diversified, working student body. Among the accomplishments of the 89-90 Senate were the creation of a new multi-cultural news magazine, Prisma, the founding of a new Latino Student Center, and the furnishing of a new Student Lounge on the fourth floor of Wheatley Hall.

The 1989-1990 year will be remembered for the rallies, the Kinks, and Robert Redford's speech at Commencement. But it should also be remembered as the year the Student Senate undertook and passed a Constitution Revision Project which greatly expands the power and scope of student input and leadership at our school. An entire year of research went into this document, and for the first time, a Student Bill of Rights was proposed to insure that students have appropriate civil and educational rights as members of the University community.

We hope that you remember student government as being there when you needed them, and for all the work they did on behalf of students.

VETERANS CENTER

The Vet's Center is the oldest center on campus, dealing with our large veteran population. The center deals with the needs of this population by advocating recognition of those Vets who attend UMB.

The Black Student Center is a great place for students to meet, study and plan activities for the student population at UMB. The focus of the center is a commitment to educating the UMB community to African-American culture. The center sponsors a variety of programs throughout the year, as well as an annual ball for Black graduates.

The Women's Center was first formed in 1976 to deal with the issues relevant to women on campus as well as to offer support services, referral services, and other vital services women felt they needed. The ideology has changed through the years, sometimes strictly feminist at other times more inclusive. At present the Women's Center offers a diverse set of opportunities for women on campus, as well as sponsoring many alternative programs. The staff and volunteers of the center are a group of women who represent the diversity of cultures, ethnicities and ideologies on campus.

The best of times

The Asian Center is an umbrella for the many Asian student organizations on campus which work collectively to promote not only cross cultural education amongst the Asian and Asian American communities on campus but also reaching out to the UMASS population at large in their efforts to share cultural and educational differences. The Asian Center also sponsors orientation groups for high school students interested in UMASS. The center promotes many types of educational forums, from academic tutorials, counseling, lectures and international aid programs. As with all student centers, the Asian center welcomes the student population to come and share in their networking endeavors.

Alcohol Awareness Center

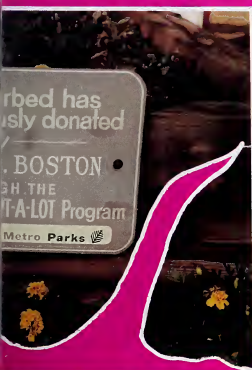

The Alcohol and Substance Awareness Center is a center which offers supportive services to the campus population. The center promotes awareness of substance abuse, through workshops, reading material, open houses and general rap sessions. The staff varies from year to year, yet they are all committed to continuing the support which the center offers.

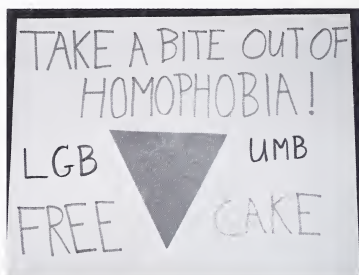

Disabled Student Center

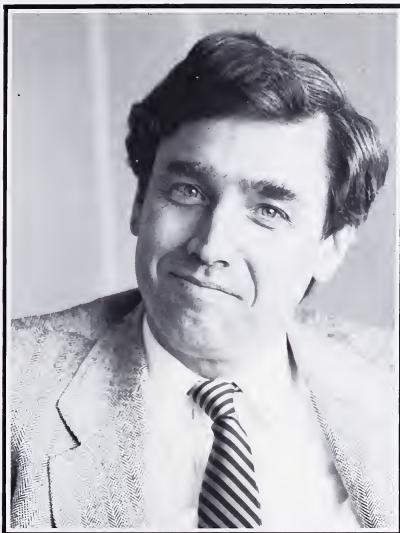

The Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Center was founded in 1984. This center deals with issues around homosexuality, bringing an awareness to campus as well as a pleasant environment to visit or accomplish work around issues of homophobia, which are still pervasive in our society. This year the center expanded to include bisexual folk within the forum of the center.

To the Class of 1990:

You complete your education at UM/B at a time when the world is changing at an accelerating rate. Events in Europe and Asia have altered political configurations that have been familiar for two generations. Science and technology are altering the way we live, while demographic forces are transforming our society and global economic patterns are changing the way we do business. In the course of your lives you will need to understand the implications for yourselves of these fundamental changes and of others that we cannot now identify.

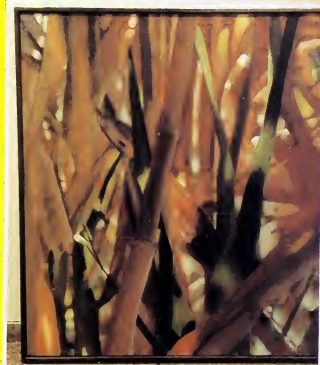

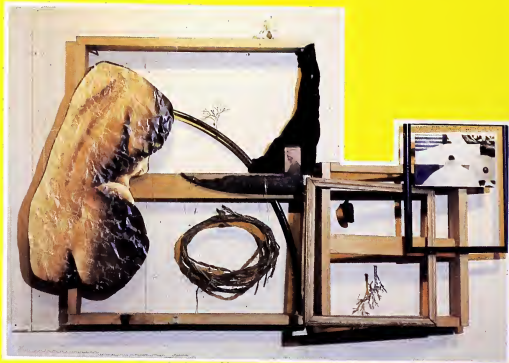

Change. Growth. Self-Development. These are what education is all about. It is also about stability and continuity: understanding those parts of your traditions and beliefs that you wish to preserve even as you confront the need to adapt; understanding the things about our society that must be protected as the world changes around us. If we have done our jobs as educators we have helped you be clear about those things you wish to sustain while also equipping you to grow.

We know how hard you have worked to get to this point. We are proud of what you have accomplished and confident of your capabilities. We think your years here will help you lead more fruitful and successful lives. We hope you will use the learning you have attained to make the world better for others.

With best wishes,

Football

In 1988 the UMass/Boston club football team entered the big leagues by becoming part of the New England Football Conference. They proceeded to win their first game as a league team defeating Framingham State College and went on to post a first season record of 3-6.

The 1989 season opened with Framingham State taking revenge on the Beacons for last year beating them 17 to 7. From there the Beacons lost the next 3 games before recording a tie with M.I.T. The rest of the season saw some fine play by the Beacons although lots of losing scores. The team posted its only win against Maine Maritime Academy.

Beacons Shine with Conference ALL-STARS

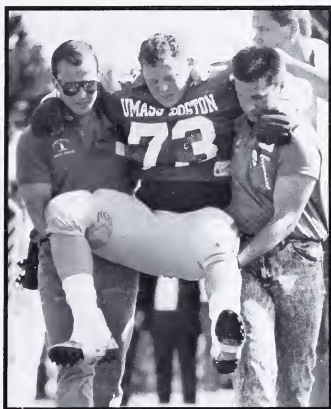

Despite a rather soft league showing over-all the Beacons were strong when it came to All-Stars. In only its second season in the league UMB had four players, Pat Speduto, Rob Walker, Steve Burns and Mike Amatucci named to the special team. Pat Speduto was named to the first team with his teammates named to the second team All-Stars.

This season marks the end of Beacon hockey for four UMB seniors. Captain Dan Fleming, Assistant Captain Brian Ward, Mike O'Connell and Charles Plaza have all finished out their fine careers. Fleming finished his 3 years with the Beacons with 32 goals and 51 assists. Brian Ward, a leading scorer, leaves with 35 goals and 24 assists in just 2 seasons. Charles Plaza, a four year member of the team ends with 46 goals and 59 assists. Mike O'Connell after 2 seasons leaves with 18 goals and 30 assists.

Women's Basketball

The 89-90 season was a rebuilding one for the Lady Beacons. Head coach Bill Fallon's first year was a disappointing one as the team more often than not found themselves on the losing end of the final score. The team had some challenging moments such as the Regis Tournament where they won the consolation game against Colby Sawyer.

The stand out for this year's team was junior captain Eileen Fenton. Through hard work and lots of talent she became only the third woman in UMB history to score 1,000 points in her career and the first to eclipse the 1,000 point mark in her junior year. Her outstanding achievements were recognized far beyond the Harbor Campus as she was named the Little East Conference player of the year. She led the league in both scoring and rebounds. Eileen was also named to the All Conference Team.

A member of the Little East Conference, the UMB women's basketball team traveled throughout the Boston and New England area playing a competitive Division III schedule. They competed in the Regis College Tournament in November losing the first game to the University of New England and rebounding to win the consolation game against Colby Sawyer.

Men's Basketball

The 1989-1990 season was the final one for seniors Harry Wilson and Marcus Haynes. Wilson's UMB career has been filled with many accomplishments. His experience and leadership abilities won him the captain spot last season. Haynes' career with the Beacons lasted only one and a half years but during that time he did very well. Haynes set a school record with 10 steals in a game against Eastern Nazarene College.

Another highlight of the season was Beacon star Danny Delgado. He was rewarded for his achievements by being named Little East Conference Rookie of the year. He average 19 points and 5.4 rebounds per game. He also led the team on blocks with 21 and in steals with 37.

The 1990 season saw the Lacrosse Beacons win their first game in three years against the University of New England.

The defense was a strength for the Beacons led by Aaron Bartland, Matt Porter and Rich Knox. With experience on their side they kept the team close in many games. Offensive leaders included Jon Hensey. New players and added depth bolstered the midfield positions.

The 1989 season saw a new coach and a new attitude for the UMB squad. Under the guidance of first year coach Mohamed Berrada the Lady Beacons continued to build a strong team even though most of their matches were tough losses. Coach Berrada was able to rely on his four returning starters who formed the nucleus of the team. Returners and Co-Captains Karen Coluci and Diane Magee led the team in spirit as well as play. Jennifer Mills and Susan Parry rounded out the returning players. Mill's effective serve and Parry's defense kept the team close in all their matches, despite posting a 12-2 record.

The 89 SOCCER BEACONS had a very creditable (9-9) record. Leading the way for the BEACONS was Charlie Keskinkidis with 26 goals and 8 assists for 60 points and Harold Jean Baptiste with 10 goals and 10 assists for 30 points.

Keskinkidis was named Little East Player Of The Year and he and teammate Harold Jean Baptiste were selected for the second straight year for the All New England Team. The defensive chores were handled by Co-Captain David Keene and Joel Jean Pierre. The midfield was held together by the other Co-Captain Richard Brooks. The goaltending chores were capably handled by John Pratt and Leonard Stewart.

The Fall 90 Team will miss senior Richard Brooks and Leonard Stewart.

Softball

The UMass/Boston softball finished the season with a record of 11-8 tying last year's record. The team played a tough season and made post season play. They were invited to participate in the Massachusetts Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women championship tournament. Unfortunately, they lost to Anna Maria College in the first round of the tournament.

Baseball

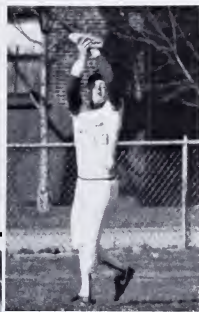

The UMB baseball team finished the year with a disappointing 7-17 record. With nine returning starters the team had hoped to improve on last season's 12-13 record but that was not the case. Steve Coffey returned as one of the bright spots on the team having been the first UMass/Boston player selected to the Division III All New England First Team in 1989. He had earned the chance to play in the prestigious contest by having a great sophomore year which included a Division III record 34 game hitting streak.

In its 1990 season the men's tennis team finished with an 11-1 overall record and earned an 8th ranking in the New England Division III, it was UMB's first ranking in tennis. Head Coach Mike Bradley was very pleased with the job done by his team.

Oscar Java had a fine season losing only in the finals of the Codfish Tournament and in the first round of the Little East Conference Tournament.

Tom Savoie proved a valuable leader for the Beacons winning all of his matches except his final in the Codfish Tourney.

Kevin Counter ended his career with the Beacons this season. His talent will be missed as he had many key victories for the Beacons.

Coach Bradley has built a solid program with a lot of talent and a lot of potential. He and his players have aced their way into the elite of New England Division III teams.

Tin Roof — Rusted

One of my favorite moments at UMass/Boston came at one of those "free" cookouts, when a woman gave me a hamburger even though I didn't have a ticket because she recognized me from taking a class in an adjacent room.

Recounting these tales as if to ignite vivid images of our shared time would be like remembering a time through its songs. Unfortunately, either experience speaks differently to each of us; they are abbreviated, blurry glimpses of a particular style, even a certain face in a certain hallway or a tear shed in an underground garage, but only briefly stirring and perhaps unsettling.

The experience for most of us at UMB had the value of our maturity riding on it because we put the challenges before ourselves, for ourselves. The school served as the cold center of a whirlwind process of personal, practical growth. It was a yardstick we tamed as it slipped us in the face from our first measurements against it until it bounced us out — some of us still burning from the intensity of our stay. At some point we were engulfed, gasping for breath, but we have emerged. More than any academic requirements, financial hardships, or "good times" we had at UMB, the most prized achievements have come from within each of us.

These achievements came most often when no one was around to see you question yourself a thousand times. But, sometimes they came on the underkept classroom's light as it reflected from a caring eye, maybe even a loving eye. Maybe it was a person you'll never see, or can even remember. What we did in search of a degree is in memories like songs — too easily forgotten, or fleeting in influence or inspiration.

But those of us whose spirits pushed us and stretched us have a more valuable experience because we have shuffled our minds and risked our lives — at least our old lives. The collateral against this test has been our spirits, our wills, — the things we must take responsibility for ourselves. This is what's of supreme value, because it is our vital song. It is the power to readress and redress ourselves through an open, familiar road: to tune in to what we are becoming. We are no longer kids, who are satisfied with the melodies of others.

We are the ones who can do almost anything with almost nothing. The State should never be allowed to abridge our freedom of association — or destroy UMass/Boston. We have taken care of ourselves and our neighbors; we work now to take care of our government and our environment.

Strangely enough, because of UMB we will continue to buy each other lunch, run each other's errands and make ourselves available to strangers in distress. We have attained a deeper love. We have learned their songs and played their tunes, but we have learned to find the power in our own.

For better or for worse: A 1990 Playlist

Like a Prayer, Express Yourself — Madonna

Don't Believe The Hype, Fight The Power — Public Enemy

Mixed Emotions, Wild Horses — Rolling Stones

The staff of The Mass Mania spent their Mondays in Production eating Puritan Food, and their Wednesday Nights trying to figure out what happened on Monday. Foley's was frequented after our Ed. Board meetings for a few warm beers. There were parties, and there were parties. There was the week up in Sweden Mania (thanks, Steve!), and parties at #69 Jack, our humble post-hole, threw us a Christmas party complete with lights, a Palm tree, martini, and presents for all our friends. This bash turned out to be more than any of us could handle or remember. In the spring of 1980, the Mass Mania was again a great success. This time we really got control, by smashing the Student Senate at its own (Robert's) Rules. We had an on-site election. The Mass Mania staff members will also remember 1980 as the year the B's almost made it, and the year they celebrated every goal with a kick of salt, a lap of lemon, and a shot of Tequila. Congratulations on a job well done!

Prisma magazine is a new student publication with a different approach. Although the magazine features written and visual arts, news and commentary, what makes the publication unique is its multicultural emphasis. We on the staff are committed to the notion that in sharing our various languages and experiences with each other, we not only learn and grow as individuals, but our fears of difference become a celebration of difference. We publish with translations into English as many languages as are submitted to the magazine. Our title, Prisma, is the Spanish word for prism, and is intended to reflect the particular diversity of UMass/Boston and its surrounding communities. The magazine is designed to approach many forms of discrimination in an educational, entertaining, and artistic format. We are grateful for our first year of existence, and in particular for the overwhelming support we have received from the university community. We look forward to many more issues and new faces to join our staff.

Rebecca T. Dill, Coordinator 1990

It is my pleasure to offer my congratulations to each of you as you graduate from the University of Massachusetts at Boston. As the first graduating class of the new decade I look forward to the positive influence you will have upon our society. The education you received at UMass/Boston combined with your personal commitment to work with the Community makes you special. Life is a continuing education and you are about to end one stage. As you begin the next stage, whether it be to join the work force or to continue on to graduate school, I wish you success. As alumni our paths must cross again; I expect to hear from and about you in the future.

Best wishes,

DEAN'S MESSAGE

Each of us who has had the opportunity to serve in a position of responsibility at the University of Massachusetts/Boston, has come to understand that we have been privileged by that opportunity. You, our graduates, have taught us that there is almost nothing that can or will stand in the way of a student who is determined to learn. You have reminded us on a daily basis of why this University exists. You have enriched our lives by allowing us to take pride in your accomplishments.

With the hope that you will refer back to this yearbook as a source of fond memories and inspiration, I am going to take the author's privilege of offering just one more lesson. It has become a euphemism to say we live in a world of rapid change in which one must run just to stay even with the pack. But in running with the pack we often lose sight of the purpose of the race. If you want your life to be better, then you will have to remember that the purpose of the race is not only your personal advancement but the advancement of all society. As you charge ahead in the race, take the time to ask about the finish line. Be sure the finish line is one you want to cross.

From all in the College of Management, best wishes and congratulations.

Happy 25th Anniversary

University of Massachusetts at Boston

Isn't it a Sight?

The University of Massachusetts at Boston has gone through much change since its inception with the downtown campus in 1965. In the ensuing years UMass students hotly protested the proposed move of the University to the Harbor site. They both won and lost, as the Harbor site did materialize but the downtown campus was saved. There have been other protests over the years such as the Vietnam War, Ban the Bomb and in 1990 the intensely protested budget cuts crisis.

As the Dicken's quote from The Tale of Two Cities implies the University has seen "the best of times" and "the worst of times." It is probably safe to say that UMass will continue to do so over the years, sometimes flying sometimes running and maybe sometimes merely stumbling along, but UMass will endure. And I think I speak for most when I say that I am glad to have been educated here.

Congratulations to the University of Massachusetts at Boston on your 25th Anniversary!!
